Mao Zedong’s Rule of Communist China
After decades of civil war, Mao Zedong and his supporters established the People’s Republic of China, a Communist nation, in 1949. Mao was a totalitarian dictator whose methods for gaining, consolidating, and maintaining control are exemplified through his two most well known policies: the Great Leap Forward and the Cultural Revolution.

The Great Leap Forward was an economic and social plan used from 1958 to 1960 which aimed to use China’s vast population to rapidly transform mainland China from a primarily agrarian (or farming) economy dominated by peasant farmers into a modern, industrialized communist society.

Mao Zedong based this program on the Five Year Plans used by Joseph Stalin in the Soviet Union.

The Great Leap Forward is now widely seen—both within China and outside—as a major economic and humanitarian disaster, with estimates of the number of people killed by famine during this period ranging from a minimum of 14 million to as many as 43 million.

6. Was the Great Leap Forward successful? Explain.
The Cultural Revolution (1966-1976)

Watch this NowThis World video on the Cultural Revolution and What was China’s Cultural Revolution? from BBC news, examine the images below and read the text, then answer the questions that follow.

The Chinese Cultural Revolution was a massive social upheaval from 1966 through 1976 brought on by a struggle for power within the Communist Party of China, in which at least half a million people died and the People’s Republic of China was brought to the brink of civil war.

The Cultural Revolution was initiated by Party Chairman Mao Zedong in 1966 to reassert his leadership after the disasters of the Great Leap Forward. After the failures of the Great Leap Forward, other party members challenged Mao’s authority. In response, Mao and his supporters purged the CCP of those who opposed him, trained Chinese youths to worship Mao and his sayings, and then empowered those young people to rebel against their elders to defend Mao’s revolution. In the chaos and violence that ensued, much of China’s artistic legacy was destroyed and millions were persecuted, some of whom lost their lives.

Video Questions

1. Why did Mao start the Cultural Revolution?

2. What methods did Mao use to change Chinese culture during the Cultural Revolution?
3. Who were the Red Guards?

4. Who was targeted and denounced by the Red Guards? Why did the Red Guards denounce these people? What methods did the Red Guards use?

5. Why do you think Mao gave young people so much power during the Cultural Revolution?
A 1968 map of Beijing showing streets and landmarks renamed during the Cultural Revolution. Andingmen Inner Street became "Great Leap Forward Road", Taijichang Street became the "Road for Eternal Revolution", Dongjiaominxiang was renamed "Anti-Imperialist Road", Beihai Park was renamed "Worker-Peasant-Soldier Park" and Jingshan Park became "Red Guard Park." Most of the Cultural Revolution-era name changes were later reversed.

6. What ended the Cultural Revolution?

7. What were the effects of the Cultural Revolution in China?
1. During the Great Leap Forward, Chinese peasants were forced to
   (1) join communes
   (2) move to the cities
   (3) convert to Christianity
   (4) attack the Red Guards

2. What was an immediate result of the Great Leap Forward (1958)?
   (1) independence of Kenya from Great Britain
   (2) the breakup of the Soviet Union
   (3) the relocation of Bosnian refugees
   (4) increased famine in China

3. One similarity between Stalin’s five-year plans and Mao Zedong’s Great Leap Forward was that both programs attempted to
   (1) increase industrial production
   (2) privatize the ownership of land
   (3) correct environmental pollution
   (4) strengthen international trade

Base your answers to questions 5 and 6 on the song lyrics below and on your knowledge of social studies.

East is Red

The east is red, the sun is rising,
China has brought forth a Mao Zedong,
He amasses fortune for the people,
Hurrah, he is the people’s great savior.

Chairman Mao loves the people,
He is our guide,
To build a new China,
Hurrah, he leads us forward!

The Communist Party is like the sun,
Wherever it shines, it is bright,
Wherever there is a Communist Party,
Hurrah, there the people are liberated!

5. This 1960s Chinese song would most likely have been sung during the
   (1) return of Hong Kong
   (2) Cultural Revolution
   (3) Boxer Rebellion
   (4) Tiananmen Square incident
4. In China the terms "Long March," "Little Red Book," and "Great Leap Forward" are most closely associated with the economic policies of the Kuomintang or the expulsion of foreigners during the Boxer Rebellion or the foreign policy under Deng Xiaoping or the leadership of Mao Zedong.

6. What is the main idea of this 1960s Chinese song?
   (1) The Sun will never set on Chinese communism.
   (2) Communist policies will liberate Mao Zedong.
   (3) The Chinese people will become wealthy under communism.
   (4) Mao Zedong will lead the Communist Party in building a new China.

7. One similarity between the Reign of Terror during the French Revolution and the Cultural Revolution in China was that both limited the power of absolute leaders or illustrated the power of public opinion in forming national policy or established social stability and economic growth or used violent methods to eliminate their opponents.

8. One way in which the Hitler Youth of Germany and the Red Guard of China are similar is that both organizations required unquestioning loyalty to the leader or helped increase religious tolerance or hindered imperialistic goals or led pro-democracy movements.
